

Greenwich Data Centre East London

C4L is pleased to offer extensive colocation options in the Greenwich data centre in East London. This data centre is ideal for outside of Docklands colocation with direct links to central London, and provides excellent pricing for standard power colocation.

The site also benefits from having completely diverse data rooms on site with diverse power feeds from the grid. This provides the ideal solution for diverse multiple colocation racks in the same facility.

The facility is connected to the C4L network and all major data centres across the UK and the Netherlands. All customers are provided direct access to our Network Operations Centre and all customers' connections are monitored by our team 24x7. The facility is on a separate power grid to Docklands and Telehouse, making this an excellent failover site.

Opting for Greenwich colocation with C4L comes with all the benefits you'd expect from the owners of the UK's largest privately owned network, with services such as IP transit, data backup and storage and interconnects all available to compliment your colocation service.

C4L has over 11 years' industry experience, and has one of the UK's largest data centre footprints. This, combined with managed data storage and connectivity products, and impeccable customer relationship management is the reason why over 500 core clients and millions of end users across the UK rely on C4L's services.
