

Meridian Gate Data Centre Docklands

C4L is pleased to offer extensive colocation options at the sought after Meridian Gate data centre. This purpose built data centre is based in the Docklands region of London, widely regarded as the heart of the UK's Internet thanks to the numerous connectivity options it possesses. C4L can provide numerous colocation options at this site, ranging from single Us through full racks.

This data centre features an exceptionally highly specified infrastructure to include the latest gas-based fire protection systems, specialised heat and smoke sensors, raised flooring, and scalable power for future expansion.

The facility is connected to our network and is connected to all major data centres across the UK and the Netherlands. All customers are provided direct access to our Network Operations Centre and all customers' connections are monitored by our team 24x7.

C4L has over 11 years' industry experience, and has one of the UK's largest data centre footprints. This, combined with managed data storage and connectivity products, and impeccable customer relationship management is the reason why over 500 core clients and millions of end users across the UK rely on C4L's services.
